Roads At Top of The List

Governor For 'Gas' Tax Hike And Strong Civil Defense Law

By Larry Hall

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 3—(AP)—Gov. Forrest Smith put road needs at the top of his list of legislative recommendations today. For the second time since becoming governor he urged a gasoline tax increase to keep the highway system from falling apart.

"It is my studied opinion," he told the new 66th general assembly, "that our state highway problem is the most serious and critical situation confronting Missouri today."

But he put off until later telling the legislators how much the present two-cent tax should be increased.

The governor pitched his prepared message on a solemn note. He reminded the lawmakers "the sky is blackened by threatening war clouds." Then he urged them to keep their session short, work together, expand needed governmental services, "yet prevent a too heavy burden on our taxpayers."

Besides the gax tax increase, here are his other major recommendations:

A broad civil defense law to give the governor emergency powers in case of atomic attack.

Turn the Confederate Soldiers' home at Higginsville into a state tuberculosis sanatorium.

Increase bus and truck fees and tighten existing bus and truck laws,

Replace "our present antiquated driver's license law."

Redistrict the present 13 congressional districts into 11 new ones as required by the 1950 census.

Pass a small loan interest law "fair to both the borrower and the lender."

Propose Retirement Plan.

Set up a retirement system for state employes and for the judiciary.

Change the blind pension laws to let the state take advantage of federal matching funds and extend help to the industrial blind.

Legalize the use of voting machines by cities and counties that want them.

Practice economy by fending off "greedy pressure groups."

Smith gave almost four full pages of his 22-page speech to a detailed discussion of road needs, including changes in bus and truck laws.

Much of it was a reviw of arguments he used last spring in stumping the state for a proposed four-cent gasoline tax, with one cent pledged for rural roads. It was defeated by a one-sided vote in a special referendum election last April.

Tackling the thorny problem again, the governor said his plan

Seek Driver And Truck of Meat

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Jan. 3—(AP)—A five-state search is underway for a truck driver, a semi-trailer truck and 31,000 pounds of meat missing between here and Los Angeles.

The meat is valued at $12,000.

Kansas City police, who initiated the search, said the driver was David E. Jones, 26, of El Paso, Tex. He was given a $125 expense account and rolled down the highway Dec. 26 in a truck without identifying markings.

E. J. Smith, president of the Great Western Trucking company, said he had inquired at every port of entry along the route, but received no reports on the driver

At El Paso, Tex., a filling station operator said a driver had asked him to keep a refrigeration unit going on a truck load of meat while the driver spent New Year's "at home."

It was believed there the driver continued his trip to California after the stopover.

Two Bandits Rob a Springfield Hotel

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 3—(AP)—Two bandits robbed a downtown Springfield hotel of $150 early today.

The men who were armed locked night manager Norman D Gray and a porter in a basement room and then ransacked the night desk in the lobby. The lobby was deserted at the time.

Police Lieutenant Sam Robards said they apparently climbed a fire escape and entered through a second-story window. After obtaining the loot they fled through the lobby exit.

Choral Club Holiday Party

Z. Lyle Brown, president of the Sedalia Men's Choral club, was master of ceremonies at the annual holiday party, which was held in the Ambassador room of the Hotel Bothwell Tuesday night. He introduced Otis W. Wiley, secretary, who presented the director, Abe Rosenthal and the accompanist, Miss Lillian Fox with gifts of appreciation.

Lighted red candles, carts of Christmas greenery and vari-colored tree balls were on the tables. Dinner music was recorded. After short addresses by Miss Fox and Mr. Rosenthal, Susa Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ward and Mary Alice McLaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip McLaughlin gave a pantomime on "Anything You Can Do, I Can Do Better," from "Annie, Get Your Gun."

Mr. Brown thanked Charles R. Hanna, Jr., news editor of the Sedalia Capital, who has handled the publicity for the choral club. Mr. Hanna leaves the 8th of January for the U. S. Air Force.

The club members sang, "Sweet Sixteen" to their wives and guests. The solo was given by Jerry L. Engle.

A quartette composed of Addison Taylor, Charles Maggard, Al Domingue and Dean Binderup sang two numbers.

The remainder of the evening was spent playing cards and dancing.

The social committee was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Hofheins, Mr. and Mrs. Z. Lyle Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Otis W. Wiley, Mr and Mrs. Winston Ream, Mr. and Mrs. William Ward and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Neal.

Democrats in Assembly Win In Skirmish

Show of Politics At The Start of Sessions of 1951

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 3—(AP)—Democrats won their first skirmish as Missouri's 1951 Legislature opened a few minutes after noon today. They seated Sen.-Elect David A. Hess of St. Louis, in spite of Republican effort to stop them.

Hess was sworn in by Supreme Court Judge Frank Hollingsworth along with other new senators.

Republicans wanted the Senate to leave the question undecided and seat neither Hess nor former Sen. Milton F. Napier, the Republican who is contesting the election.

Sen. R. Jasper Smith (R) of Springfield, minority floor leader, said the Senate should follow the precedent set in a similar contest ten years ago. Neither contestant served in that session.

But on a straight party vote, 17 to 13, his proposal was laid over until the next Legislative day—probably next Tuesday. Meanwhile Hess was sworn in.

Smith tried to stop the ceremony but Lt. Gov. James T. Blair, Jr., said he had no discretion except to recognize the list of newly elected senators as certified by the secretary of state. That includes Hess, who holds the disputed election certificate.

Then both houses swung into the routine of setting up their permanent organization without delay.

The senate's first business was to adopt a resolution of sympathy for the family of Sen. Yewell Lawrence (D) of Bloomfield. He was killed in a highway accident near Lutesville yesterday while en route to the capital.

Jurisdiction to Senate

A little later the Senate voted to notify the circuit clerk in St. Louis that it has taken jurisdiction of the Hess-Napier contest.

Senator Smith, who offered the resolution after conferring with majority leaders, said one of the main purposes was to halt court costs. The circuit court has appointed a commissioner to take depositions in the cast but the Senate agreed it is the sole judge of its membership under the 1945 constitution.

The next step, Smith told reporters, will come next week. He

Western Powers Expected in More Determined Stand

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Why is it that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist forces aren't allowed to engage Chinese Communists now that Red China is in the war?

News Editor Louis Sinclair of the Battle Creek (Mich.) Enquirer and News wants an answer to that. It's a good question, almost too good, because it has to do with a delicate situation about which the United Nations and its military command in eastern Asia haven't done much talking. However, the Chinese Communist intervention in the Korean war is bound to alter that.

To begin at the beginning, the U. N. Security Council in its resolution of last July 7 called for the creation of the U. N. army to resist North Korean aggression—and placed responsibility for this unified command in the hands of Washington, operating through General MacArthur. The U. N. retired to the background.

Bill For Huge Aircraft Carrier

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3—(AP)—A bill was introduced in Congress today to authorize President Truman to order construction of a new-type 60,000-ton aircraft carrier which can handle modern heavy planes.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Service committee sponsor of the bill, said hearings on it will begin Jan. 9.

Navy plans for this new ship do not constitute a revival of the 65,000-ton carrier United States, construction of which was halted by former Secretary of Defense Johnson.

Navy representatives have said the design of the proposed carrier is even more up to date.

Gay Note For 82nd Congress

Solemnity is Evident as the Jovial Greetings Are Concluded

By Jack Bell

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3—(AP) — The 82nd Congress convened at noon (EST) today in colorfully refurnished chambers.

Crowded galleries, bright with feminine figures in their best finery, contributed a gay note as did the hand-shaking and exchange of greetings among the legislators on the floors.

But there was an atmosphere, too, of solemnity and tension, born of the feeling that the two-year life of this Congress may be an era as trying as any in American history.

It was deflected in session-eve Democratic pleas of national unity and Republican demands that President Truman clarify his international aims.

Vice President Barkley banged down his gavel promptly at the noon hour to convene the Senate. The Senate chaplain, the Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, asked divine guidance for the legislators.

The Vice President then began swearing in new Senators, and those reelected to new six-year terms, in groups of four.

In the first group were Senators Aiken (R-Vt), Bennett (R-Utah), John Butler (R-Md), and Capehart (R-Ind).

Senate Democratic leader McFarland of Arizona jumped up to ask that the oath administered to Butler be "deemed without prejudice" either to Butler or to the Senate. That means the Democrats may yet formally try to keep Butler from setting in the Senate.

Will be Ready For Eisenhower

PARIS, Jan. 3 —(AP)— General Dwight D. Eisenhower's first headquarters as supreme Atlantic army commander will be ready for business Friday, the day before the general is to fly to Europe.

Today the headquarters, Paris' Astoria hotel, is a mess of ladders, painters, repairmen and telephones that won't work.

Sharply-uniformed military policemen, sent here from Heidelberg, Germany, for the purpose, guard the entrances and check visitors' passes. Across the street four French policemen loiter in the damp cold — just in case French Communists try to raise their own morale with a little picketing demonstration.

"We'll be in shape for SHAPE in plenty of time for the boss," said an officer, referring to the Atlantic Pact designation of "Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe."

Truman Signs Big Tax Bill

Measure For 'Excess Profits' Levy to Raise $3,300,000,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3—(AP) — President Truman signed today the new $3,300,000,000 tax bill, slapping a 77 per cent super-levy on corporation "excess profits."

It lifts the nation's tax collections to the highest dollar figure in history, but Mr. Truman said "the task ahead of us will require more and much heavier taxes."

He added in a statement:

"I shall, in due course, submit to the Congress recommendations for substantial tax increases."

Even before Congress completed action on this bill, Mr. Truman had made known he would ask still further revenue-raising measures from the new Congress.

Treasury experts are studying various possibilities. They have given out no details, but individuals, whose income taxes were raiised last Oct. 1, may be called on to pay still larger levies.

The administration's aim is to put America's resistance to Communist aggression as near as possible on a pay-as-you go basis.

The bill signed today raises tax collections to $45,000,000,000 or more a year—well above the record $43,900,000,000 set in 1945 during World War II.

President Is Critical

Mr. Truman, who had asked that this bill hike taxes by $4,000,000,000, was critical of some of its provisions.

He said some features of the new meaure will probably give an undue advantage to some corporations "especially in relation to the tax burdens necessarily borne by others."

Abandon Hope For a Truce

Persuasion Fails To Get It By a Cease Fire Order

By Max Harrelson

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 3—(AP)—The U. N. cease-fire committee announced today it had abandoned hope of getting a truce in Korea.

The report of the three-member body was laid before the General Assembly's political committee by India's Sir Benegal N. Rau. After reviewing the cease-fire efforts during the past two weeks, the report said:

"The group regrets that it has been unable to pursue discussion of a satisfactory cease-fire arrangement. It therefore feels that no recommendation in regard to a cease-fire can usefully be made by it at this time."

The report was signed by Rau and the other two members, Lester B. Pearson of Canada and assembly President Nasrollah Entezam of Iran.

After reading the report, Rau said the political committee must continue its peace efforts."

"Most of my listeners," he said, "will probably feel that the report is nothing more than a record of failure. But we must go on exploring every means to maintain peace even if the final attempts fail."

Almost all the 12-page report was devoted to summaries of the messages exchanged between the truce committee and the Chinese Communist government. These

Oust Protesters From Helgoland

HAMBURG, GERMANY, Jan. 3—(AP)—The island of Helgoland was cleared of its German "protest invaders" today by British public safety officials and German police.

The Germans offered no resistance but said the invasion would be continued later.

Two British public safety officers and 15 German policemen had gone to the island to break up the 13-day old siege by 20 Germans.

They had occupied the island since Dec. 21, demanding an end to it use as a bombing practice target by British and American fliers. They want the island restored to its 1400 evacuated inhabitants.

Flags Display For B.P.W.C.

The International Relations committee of the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's club will present Mrs. Ruth Robinson Roach as interpreter of the international scene as she saw it on a trip to Europe this past summer, Thursday, January 4, at 6:30 p. m. at the Bothwell hotel. Mrs. Roach was a delegate from the National Federation of B. P. W. clubs to the international convention held in London which was attended by B. P. W. members from foreign countries where such clubs have been organized.

After the International convention adjourned Mrs. Roach traveled extensively in England and on the continent, visiting France, Switzerland, Belgium and Holland. Mrs. Roach is a member of the Kansas City and Washington, D. C., B. P. W. clubs and is a past president of the latter organization.

She is no stranger to the Sedalia BPW membership as she was active in the organization of this club when it organized and was granted a charter in the National Federation.

The Peggy Hewitt School of Dancing will provide a varied program given by students of that school accompanied by Nellie Monegan, pianist. Flags of many countries donated by the Missouri Pacific railroad for the occastion were arranged for by Mrs. Fannie Anderson and Mrs. Frances Bailey and will be used to decorate the Ambassador room of the Bothwell hotel.

Many Injured Through Falls

Fractures Cause Several to go To the Hospitals

Sticks and stones are not the only bone-breakers today. The icy condition of the pavements and sidewalks has been the main cause of several fractured limbs to Sedalians.

Mrs. H. L. Offenburger, 1111 Gorrell, fractured her left wrist this morning at approximately 7:30 o'clock, when she slipped and fell on the back sidewalk on the way to the garage.

Mr. Offenburger took her to the Bothwell hospital, where the fracture was adjusted by Dr. A. L. Walter.

Mrs. I. D. Turner, 214 East Fifth street, fractured her right ankle this morning when she slipped on the steps of her home while going after the morning paper. She was x-rayed at the Bothwell hospital, where she was admitted. Dr. A. J. Campbell treated Mrs. Turner.

Mrs. Gertrude Evans, 225 East Walnut street, received a fracture of her right wrist this morning when she slipped on a sidewalk while waiting for a bus. She was taken to the Bothwell hospital where an x-ray revealed the fracture. She was treated by Dr. E. C. Snavely and later released to go to her home.

Mrs. Nellie Wharton, 71, Ionia, suffered a fracture of her right wrist when she fell on the ice in Ionia. She was taken to the Bothwell hospital where x-ray pictures revealed the break. Mrs. Wharton was later taken to her home. Dr. A. L. Walter attended Mrs. Wharton.

William Richards, 88, 305 West Morgan street, received a fracture of the left hip this morning at 10:00 o'clock when he fell in the 400 block on North Osage. He was x-rayed at the Bothwell hospital and admitted to Hospital No. 2, where the fracture was treated by Dr. A. R. Maddox.

Clarence Hodges, 69, 616 West Henry, fractured his right hip at 10:30 o'clock when he fell as he was crossing the railroad tracks in the rear of the Zero Market. He was admitted to the Sedalia hospital No. 2 and attended by Dr. A. R. Maddox.

Sen. Hennings Is Sworn in WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 — (AP) — Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., of St. Louis was seated today as a U. S. Senator from Missouri.

A Democrat, Hennings was escorted down the main aisle of the Senate to Vice-President Barkley's desk by Senator Kem (R-Mo).

Hennings is a former member of the House. His wife and her two children and his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Hennings, Sr., of St. Louis watched the ceremony from the gallery.

Also in the galleries were some 30 others, most of them from St. Louis, who came to see Hennings take office.

They included B. H. Tureen of the St. Louis Housing Authority, Fred M. Joseph, Sam Liberman, William J. Becker, Milton Yawitz, State Senator Hilsman, Thomas Guilfoil, Frank Jacobs, Harold Gibbons and Miss Virginia McGinty, all of St. Louis.

Hennings is to make a brief speech at the Women's National Press club tonight.

Be Agency For Certifying Direct Defense Loans

By Sterling F. Green

Washington, Jan. 3—(AP)—President Truman today set up a new "Defense Production Administration" tying together the government's scattered emergency production agencies.

The powerful new DPA is to be headed by William H. Harrison, now chief of the National Production Authority.

Under Mr. Truman's executive order, Harrison will have authority over industrial output, transportation, fuel, minerals and power.

Some of these powers are now scattered through various government departments.

Harrison will report to—and be subject to the direction and control of—Charles E. Wilson, director of defense mobilization, who recommended the new agency and suggested Harrison as its chief.

Harrison also will take over the authority to certify companies for direct defense loans and for tax benefits to assist plant expansion. This has been under Chairman W. Stuart Symington of the National Security Resources Board.

Not Control Food

The order does not place food under Harrison's control. But it does provide that if food supplies are insufficient, Harrison and Secretary of Agriculture Brannan "shall jointly determine the division to be made of the available supply" as between industrial needs and food for human and animal consumption.

In event of a corn shortage, for instance, Harrison would have a voice in deciding how much would be used for industrial starch and how much for livestock feeding.

The order also creates a new Defense Mobilization Board at the cabinet le vel to advise Wilson. Wilson will be chairman.

The other members are Secretary of Defense Marshall, Secretary of the Treasurer Snyder, Secretary of Interior Chapman, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, Secretary of Labor Tobin, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, the chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the chairman of the Federal Reserve System, and Symington.

The order stops short of an outright merger of the emergency offices, but makes them subject to Harrison's directives. The defense agencies will remain for the present in the old-line departments.

The National Production Administration, for instance, will continue in the Commerce department. Secretary of Commerce Sawyer is expected to name a successor to Harrison soon as head of NPA.

Wilson is reported to desire also a close tie with the procurement organizations of the armed forces.

Deny Charge of Breaking Treaty

PARIS, Jan. 3—(AP)—France has rejected Soviet charges that the treaty between them was broken when France joined the North Atlantic pact.

Information minister Albert Gazier announced that today's cabinet meeting approved a reply denying the charge. It will be forwarded to Moscow this week.

The Soviet note was sent on Dec. 15, on the eve of the Brussels meeting at which the foreign ministers of the North Atlantic treaty organization formally decided on plans for rearming western Europe.

It accused France — a similar note went to Britain — of violating its treaty of friendship with the Soviet Union. The Russians attacked the projected arming of western Germans, and accused the western powers of organizing aggression against the east.

Secretary Brown Is Speaker at Luncheon Held

The Sedalia Lions club at its noonday meeting held at the Bothwell hotel, Wednesday, had as their speaker, Chet Brown, the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce new secretary-manager. Mr. Brown used as his subject "Your Chamber of Commerce and You."

Mr. Brown explained some of the functions of the C. of C., and especially the budget of that organization. He explained a committee had been appointed to figure the 1951 budget and it was anticipated it would be increased to an extent the organization can go forward this year and do bigger and better things for Sedalia.

Attention was called to the Lions Club Missouri Independent Basketball tournament to be held at Convention hall, Liberty park, the last week of this month. A sixteen bracket is being arranged for the tournament and some of the outstanding independent teams in Missouri are expected to be entered.

Ice Coating On Highways

Snow in Parts of State And Driving Made Hazardous

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 3—(AP)—Freezing mist and light snow left some Missouri highways in a hazardous condition today.

Hardest hit appeared to be the central and northern sections, where a misting rain since last night had left a coating of ice. The state highway patrol reported spots of ice in the central part of the state. Moberly reported roads in hazardous condition. Sedalia reported ice.

Roads north of Savannah were reported solid sheets of ice. Highways in the St. Joseph area were reported in a fair condition after freezing precipitation during the night.

Western Missouri had a light snow, no point reporting more than an inch.

The forecast for the next 24 hours calls for occasional light snow west and north and rain or snow in the southeast. Much colder weather is in sight for Thursday with strong northerly winds. The low tonight is expected to be 20 to 25 in the northwest and extreme north and 28 to 32 in the remainder of the state, except 35 to 40 in the extreme southeast.

Precipitation in the Springfield area had resulted in .69 of an inch of moisture, the largest fall since October 3. There was no ice in that area.

Maryville, in northwest Missouri, reported the sky was clear this morning. The highway patrol said roads there were icy and hazardous. Maryville's temperature at 7 a. m. was 17 degrees.

Believed Early Attacks Come Before Heavier Assault Ahead

By Stan Swinton

SEOUL, Jan. 3—(AP)—The battle for Seoul began today.

Chinese assault troops stormed the makeshift United Nations defense line north of the anxious and nearly deserted South Korean capital at 4:30 a.m. (1:30 p.m. CST, Tuesday.

Their heaviest attacks slammed into a veteran U. S. division's position some 10 miles northeast of Seoul. A secondary assault (several words deleted by censor) cracked into positions eight miles north by northwest of Seoul.

The troops at this point gave some ground initially, but tenaciously broke up the Chinese attack. Then this unit counterattacked, regaining its original positions and capturing some additional ground.

Front line intelligence officers believed today's attacks, although in force, were only preliminary to a final all out assault on Seoul's defenders. They predict this assault will come tonight.

The situation is officially considered to be serious. The Chinese are already on the frozen, hard-to-defend flat lands.

(Deleted by censor) civilians were ordered out of Seoul by the ministry of the interior today. President Syngman Rhee and his government left this morning.

This silent, seemingly empty buildings of Seoul suddenly disgorged tens of thousands of last minute refugees today.

Mass Migration

The pathetic mass migration of the long refugee columns out of the city and across the frozen Han river was a heart touching backdrop to long convoys of military vehicles.

South Korean military police grabbed able bodied men from the refugee columns and put them to work in labor gangs digging entrenchments south of the Han river.

Seoul's normal life was paralyzed. Offices and shops were shuttered.

The doors of abandoned homes banged in the wind. War correspondents at Chosen hotel soon left the lonely building to stay with combat units.

A number of fires sprang up in the city. The fire department made no effort to extinguish them. Big buildings went up in roaring sheets of flame.

Probably not 200,000 civilians remain of the ancient city's estimated 1,500,000 population. Today's Chinese assault was the first time since New Year's that Gen. Lin Piao has hurled his army against the United forces. It was New Year's when the Eight Army abandoned its Imjin river defenses and disengaged.

The attacks began before dawn but the Chinese continued to fight on even after daylight exposed them to air attack.

"They are attacking recklessly, exposing themselves even though they know planes will hit them," a divisional intelligence officer said.

Smash With Tanks

By Olen Clements

TOKYO, Jan. 3 — (AP) — Tank-supported Chinese Reds smashed through Allied lines today and swarmed toward Seoul. But the virtually deserted South Korean capital still was in United Nations hands tonight.

A full-scale assault on the ancient city at any hour is expected.

President Syngman Rhee and his cabinet fled only a few hours before the Reds crashed through a second line of defenses seven to 10 miles to the north and northeast. This was during the morning and about noon.

Communications with Seoul went dead at 2:35 p.m. (11:35 a.m. CST).

But a dispatch by A.P. correspondent Stan Swinton, filed at 6:40 p.m quoted frontline intelligence officers as saying the earlier attacks, although in force, "were only a preliminary to a final all out assault on Seoul's defenders."

"They predict this assault will come tonight," Swinton added.

His dispatch was badly cut up by censors.

Your exemptions

Enter here total number of exemptions claimed (yours and your wife's plus one for each dependent listed above)→ 5

By RICHARD A. MULLENS
NEA Special Correspondent

In spite of higher taxes this year, you still get $600 knocked off your income for each exemption.

That's why it is even more important to know exactly what exemptions to claim on your 1950 return. Even if you think you know all your exemptions, read this article carefully. You might find one you didn't know about.

As explained, you must file a return if you had $600 or more income in 1950.

On that return, you can claim the following exemptions:

1. $600 for yourself, plus $600 if you were 65 or older in 1950, plus $600 if you were blind in 1950.

2. $600 for your wife, if she had no income or if she filed a joint return with you, plus $600 if she was 65 or older in 1950 and plus $600 if she was blind in 1950.

3. $600 for each legal dependent as defined below.

If you are legally married, as defined in the first article, and your wife had no income in 1950 you can either file a joint return with her or you can file a separate return and claim her as an exemption, provided no one else claims her as dependent.

In most cases where the wife had no income it is better to file a joint return because that permits you to "split" your income, resulting in a lower tax. If you file a separate return, even though you claim your wife as an exemption, you cannot use the "split income" method of computing the tax.

If you want to file a joint return with your wife, you must show both names on the top line of the tax return and both must sign near the bottom. If you file a separate return, show only your name on the top line and your signature near the bottom.

If your wife had any income in 1950, even though it's only a few dollars, you can only claim her as an exemption if you file a joint return and add her income to yours.

This rule does not apply to other legal dependents. For example, if your son earned anything less than $500 in 1950, you can still claim him as an exemption if you supported him. And you don't have to add his income to yours. Furthermore, if any income tax was withheld on his earnings, he can file a return and get back the tax withheld.

John and Jane Public, the taxpayers shown in the example, are filing a joint return. If you think it might be better for you and your wife to file separate returns, work out the tax both ways and compare the results.

Be sure to indicate by check mark whether husband or wife—either or both—is blind, or over 65, or both. Every truthful "Yes" is worth the tax on $600 to you. A false "Yes" is perjury and can be punished severely.

For 1950 income tax purposes any taxpayer, or spouse, is over 65 if he or she had the 65th birthday on or before January 1, 1951.

If either is over 65 he can claim the extra $600 even though the other is under 65.

A taxpayer is blind if the best eye, with correcting lens, is not better than 20/200, or if the angle of vision is as little as 20 degrees.

If either husband or wife is legally blind he can claim the extra $600 exemption, even though the other has perfect vision.

Be sure to fill in the number of exemptions for you and your wife in the spaces shown above, opposite your names. You can easily tell whether to write "1," "2," or "3" by reading the simple instructions just above the spaces.

In the spaces provided, list the legal dependents claimed by you (and your wife if you are filing a joint return).

A legal dependent is any "close relative" who had less than $500 income in 1950, to whose support you or your wife contributed as much as a penny more than half, whether the contribution was in money, in room and board, in merchandise, or in a combination of these. The dependent's age, physical or mental condition, why he needed or received your support do not matter.

The law defines "close relative" to include:

1. Your child, or the child's descendant (a legally adopted child is considered as a child by blood);

2. Your stepchild, but not the stepchild's descendants;

3. Your brother or sister, half-brother or half-sister; stepbrother or stepsister;

4. Your parent, grandparent, or other direct ancestor;

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of 15 authoritative, easy-to-follow articles in NEA's 10th annual Income Tax Primer.

5. Your stepfather or stepmother;

6. Your uncle, aunt, nephew or niece, but not their husbands or wives. Cousins are not recognized as dependents.

7. Your father-in-law, mother-in-law, brother-in-law, sister-in-law; son-in-law, or daughter-in-law.

A child born alive any time in 1950 is a legal dependent even if he lives only momentarily.

A person who died any time in 1950 and who was dependent during as much of 1950 as he lived can be claimed as a dependent for the entire year.

A person alive throughout 1950, but dependent only part of the year, was legally dependent either all year or none. It depends on whether you contributed more than half to his support for the entire year, measured in dollars and cents instead of in time.

Even though he satisfied all other requirements, a dependent can be claimed only if he is a citizen of the United States, or, if not such a citizen, if he is a resident of the United States, Canada or Mexico.

A married dependent whose exemption is claimed on a joint return with husband or wife cannot also be claimed by parents or others.

The only time any person can be claimed as an exemption on more than one return is in the case of a dependent who earned less than $500 during the year on which tax was withheld. Such a dependent provides an exemption for the person who supported him. And, technically, he claims his own exemption when he files his own return in order to get back the taxes that were withheld.

There is no extra exemption for dependents who are blind or over 65.

Keep in mind that married couples filing a joint return can list both the husband's and wife's dependents. If separate returns are filed, the husband cannot claim his wife's dependents and vice versa.

Tax Primer Q. and A.

Q. I supported my mother until she passed away on March 12, 1950. May I claim her as a dependent?

A. You may if she had less than $500 taxable income in 1950 Even though she died in March, you get a $600 exemption for her

Q. My father received $600 disability pension from Veterans Administration, yet I contributed over half to his support. May I claim her as a dependent?

A. You may. His $600 pension is not taxable income.

Q. My 65th birthday is on Jan. 1, 1951. Do I get an extra exemption for 1950?

A. You do.

Q. My wife earned $300 in 1950. Can I show her as an exemption?

A. Only if you file a joint return and then her $300 income must be added to yours.

Q. My wife, who died on Sept. 12, 1950, would have been 65 on Nov. 15, 1950. Do I get an "over 65" exemption for her?

A. No. You would, though, if she had reached 65 before she died.

14 New Senators Give the 82nd Congress Transfusion

By Douglas Larsen
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The 14 new senators who made their debuts for the start of the 82nd Congress give that august deliberative body a high-octane 100-proof blood transfusion.

Among them you find bursting, youthful vigor, awesome oratorical talent, a powerful crusading spirit, proven statesmanship and generally a high-grade variety of political talent.

Their average age is 50. Nine are attorneys. Two are farmers. Two are newspapermen. One is a businessman. They're practically all veterans of World War I or II. Three of them were governors. Eight of them were former members of the U. S. House of Representatives. They're all family men. Only three are bald.

The two youngest are both 37, George A. Smathers (D-Fla) and Richard M. Nixon (D-Cal). Nixon won his seat largely on the exposure of Alger Hiss, while serving as a member of the House un-American Activities committee. He licked the glamorous Helen Douglas. He is a navy veteran of World War II.

Smathers first won prominence in Florida by prosecuting a white slave ring. He is a former marine, served in the lower house first and defeated the liberal senator Claude Pepper.

Oldest new senator is James H. Duff (R-Pa), 67. A massive man with graying reddish hair, he is an outdoors man and ardent conservationist. Mentioned as presidential timber, he is considered one of the most liberal of the new GOP senators.

Bing Crosby's singing helped elect Herman Welker (R-Idaho), 44. Welker met Bing during the years he was practicing attorney in Hollywood. He has many other good friends in the movie town. The late Wallace Beery was his closest. Bing and other movie stars volunteered their time to help his campaign.

Welker and John O. Pastore (D-RI), 43, both had the best advance notices as flaming orators. Pastore left the governorship to take his seat in the senate. He is an ardent liberal and champion of most of the "Fair Deal" programs. He was elected for two years to fill out the unexpired term of J. Howard McGrath, who resigned to become U. S. attorney general.

The two newspapermen, Mike Monroney (D-Okla), 48, and Francis H. Case (R-SD), 54, are familiar faces in congress, both highly regarded veterans of the house. In 1946, a national magazine called Monroney the outstanding representative on the hill. For five years prior to his entry into politics he wrote political news for an Oklahoma City newspaper.

Case is both a newspaperman and a rancher. He is a former editor and publisher and is a World War I veteran of the marine corps. His 14 years in the house has featured service on the appropriations and un-American committees. He is aggressively anti-Fair Deal.

Lone businessman among the new crop of senators is Wallace Foster Bennett (R-Utah), 52, a paint and glass manufacturer and owner of a motor company, director of a bank and former president of the National Association of Manufacturers. He calls himself a "parlor amateur singer" and has five children.

Technically, two of the new 14 senators aren't brand new. Willis Smith (D-NC), 62, has been serving out the term of Frank P. Graham, whom he defeated for the full six-year term. And Frank Carlson (R-Kas), 58, served out the unexpired term of Arthur Capper and won the full term.

Carlson and Earle C. Clements (D-Ky), 54, are the two farmers. Clements is the former governor of Kentucky. He also served in the house. Politically he is middle-of-the-roader.

Thomas G. Hennings (D-Mo), 47, had the distinction of being the only Democratic candidate to capture a Republican-held seat in the last election. He is a former member of the house, an attorney and a good speaker.

And last but not least is John Marshall Butler (R-Md), 53, the man who pulled the biggest upset of all by beating Millard Tydings. He is the man who started as a youth earning $3 a week in a mattress factory. An able attorney, he developed quite a flair for oratory during the campaign and will be heard from plenty.

General Walker Buried Tuesday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3—(AP)—Gen. Walton Harrison Walker was buried Tuesday in a grave close by those of other famous soldiers who rest in Arlington National cemetery.

To honor the man who fought in two world wars, then was killed in a jeep accident while commanding the Eighth Army in Korea, the nation's foremost military leaders and representatives of the United Nations gathered at the graveside.

And, by an act of Congress at the request of President Truman, Walker was buried as a four star general. He was promoted to that rank posthumously only an hour before the funeral.

Defense Secretary Marshall, in sober black homburg and black overcoat, stood with others who had served with Walker in war—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, and others. Only a few paces away were the graves of others who also had been his comrades-in-arms—Gen. John J. Pershing and Gen. Henry H. Arnold.

Before the burial there was an Episcopalian ceremony at the Little Chapel in nearby Fort Myer.

On the saddle blanket of the symbolic riderless horse in the funeral procession was the insignia of the general—four newly affixed silver stars.

But Walker still wore the three stars of a lieutenant general when he was buried. The casket was sealed when it left Tokyo last week and was not opened again.

At Mrs. Walker's side during the chapel and graveside ceremonies was their son, Capt. Sam Walker, who like the general was fighting in Korea when his father was killed.

Western Powers Expected in More Determined Stand

When Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek offered 30,000 troops from his vast Formosan army for Korea, the offer was turned down. Why? Well, one reason certainly was based on Formosa's strategic value. MacArthur wanted Chiang's forces to defend Formosa at all costs.

It will be recalled that the strategic importance of Formosa was emphasized in MacArthur's sensational message to the Veterans of Foreign Wars last August. He described Formosa as a key spot in a "natural" defense line of islands in the Pacific from which "we can dominate with air power every Asiatic port from Vladivostok to Singapore."

Might Bring World War

That was one seemingly good reason, but there was another which was rather soft-pedaled. This was that the use of Chinese Nationalist troops in Korea might produce quick intervention by the Chinese Communists with their millions of fighting men. It might precipitate another world war.

Nobody in the U. N. or in Washington or in Korea wanted to talk much about these political considerations which were so potentially dangerous. The situation was made more delicate by the fact that Britain—one of the paramount western allies—had recognized the Red government in Pieping.

The picture takes on a different complexion, however, with the assault by a titanic army of a million and a quarter Red Chinese on the relatively small U. N. Korean force which may total about 250,000. The Peiping Communist government claims these soldiers are "volunteers," but that story no longer will wash. Communist China is in the war.

Therefore I believe we are likely to see the western powers and the United Nations as a whole taking a more forceful stand. There will be less shadow boxing.

As a matter of fact the subject was due for discussion in the U. N. General Assembly's political committee at Lake Success today. One of the items on the agenda was a demand from the United States for strong action against Communist China as a result of the new push south of the 38th parallel.

It was anticipated America would make a minimum demand that the U. N. brand the Reds as aggressors. This would pave the way for possible sanctions—economic or more stringent—against the Peiping government.

Thus the situation would seem to be developing in such a direction that Chiang's Formosan fighting men may ultimately be brought into play against the Reds after all. That army is a powerful item in the world position, for the generalissimo is said to have a total force of 580,000 soldiers, plus 120,000 airforce and naval effectives.

Fellowship in Chemistry Awarded

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 3—(AP)—E. I. Du Pont De Nemours and Co., Inc. Announced today the award, at a total outlay of $390,400, of 78 post-graduate and post-doctoral fellowships to 47 universities and grants-in-aid to 10 universities.

The program, a Du Pont spokesman said, is expected to maintain the flow of technically trained persons into teaching and research work at universities and into technical positions in industry.

Selection of candidates for fellowships and choice of projects are left to the universities receiving the awards.

Among those receiving postgraduate fellowships in chemistry were Washington University of St Louis, Kansas and Missouri.

Charles Piper In a Movie

John Carrol, 1815 South Barrett avenue, went to the Liberty theater Sunday night to see the roller skating picture, "Fireball," featuring Mickey Rooney. As he watched certain scenes, he recalled that his family had received a letter aproximately a year ago telling that Carroll's cousin, Charles Piper, 34, a professional roller skater, was to be Rooney's double. He recognized his cousin, whom he had not seen for 15 years, distinctly in three scenes.

Piper, who was once a professional bicycle racer, and has skateded his way across this and the European continent, lived in Sedalia when a child. He left with his family when they went to Kansas City, then to Hollywood, where they still reside.

Piper has other relatives here, an uncle, a grandmother, Mrs. J. M. Piper, 609 West Third street and a cousin, Clarence Piper.

When the Piper family lived in Sedalia, Mr. Piper was a salesman for the E. W. Thompson Motor company.

Truman Signs Big Tax Bill

lief provisions," he added, "crqeate inequities and reduce the government's revenues needlessly."

For this reason, he continued, he is requiring Secretary of the Treaury Snyder to keep excess profits taxes under continuous review so that if some provisions need revlion the facts can be placed before Congres yithout delay.

But Mr. Truman also had praise for Congress. He said it acted with commendable speed in completing what he described as a complex piece of legislation. It thus provided evidence, he stated, that the nation is determined to finance its huge defense program wihout jeopardy to the stability of the economic system.

Provisions of Bill

Here is what the bill signed today does:

1. Imposes a super-tax of 77 per cent on excess corporation profits, retroactive to July 1, 1950. Excess profits are defined as earnings that exceed 85 per cent of a corporation's average profits for the three best years from 1946 through 1949.

2. Increases the top "normal" tax on corporation profits from 45 per cent to 47. The rate was boosted in the "first installment" tax bill last September from 38 per cent to 45. Under the new bill, the normal rate will be 25 per cent on the first $25,000 of corporation net earnings: 47 per cent on all profits above $25,000, until earnnigs reach the area of excess profits; and 77 per cent on those earnings that meet the definition of excess profits.

3. However, the new law says that a corporation's total tax—that is the combined normal and excess profits taxes—shall not take away more than 62 per cent of its total net earnings.

(Neither the increased normal rate nor the excess profits levy will apply to corporations netting $25,000 or less a year. These small corporations will continue to pay only 25 per cent on their earnings.)

4 An alternate plan is set up for computing excess profits, using a corporation's invested capital instead of its record of earnings as a means of determining what is "excess." Thi will help principally those concerns with poor earnings records from 1946 through 1949. This alternative provides that, before the 77 per cent excess profits rate shall apply, a company can earn 12 per cent on the first $5,000,000 of invested capital over $10,000,000.

5. The measure embodies numerous other provisions to protect the growth of small industries, regulated industries such as utilities, and depressed industries such as some aircraft, hipbuilding and machine tool corporations.

The law stipulates that the excess profits levy will expire July 1, 1953, unless Congress renews it.

Road Needs At Top of The List

this time would be a straight tax increase with all else left to the present bipartisan state highway commission.

Last year's proposal was criticized as an entering wedge for the governor to gain political control of the highway department. But today he said:

"There is no politics in good roads. We must have good roads if our present school reorganization plan is to progress as planned.

"Again our state and nation are threatened by a world war. This time, possibly as never before, our highways will play an even greater part in the defense of our country. Therefore our highways must be adequate. We cannot, must not, delay longer in meeting this emergency."

The Automobile club of Missouri, which fought last year's proposed tax increase, has urged that a scientific study of road needs be made. But Smith rejected that plan.

"It does not require an outside survey," he said, "to determine x x x that additional revenue must be provided for a continued expansion, reconstruction and rehabilitation of its roads."

The model-T roads of years ago "were never intended to withstand the terrific pounding administered by present day vehicles."

Unmatched Funds

When the new year opened Monday, Smith said Misouri had unmatched federal highway money totaling $23,919,648. And the highway department estimates it can match only $4,000,000 of that in the next six months. By that time $13,200,000 more in federal funds will become available but the state won't have the money to match it.

Last year's tax increase got to the voters in a referendum election because it was passed by the legislature without an emergency clause to make it effective at once. This time the governor urged that an emergency clause be added.

Smith recognized that "busses and trucks are 'musts' in our present day economy and will play a more important part in our economy of tomorrow." They will be even more important, he said, if war comes.

But he urged that they be required to "pay a more just and equitable share of our highway costs." And present laws should be given more teeth to prevent law violations.

No new taxes for general revenue were recommended because "I am proud to report to you at this midpoint of my administration your state government is financially strong and in excellent condition."

Suggests Repairs

Neither did the governor recommend any new buildings at state institutions. Instead, he said, money should be appropriated for repairs to keep present plants in good shape.

He listed only two building projects as necessary — enough money to complete the new state office building under way here, and funds to rehabilitate aging Jesse Hall at the University of Missouri "since that building has been condemned and is no longer usable."

Smith is known in Missouri politics as the author of a "Dear Pensioner" letter which once made headlines. But in today's message there was only one recommendation on old age assistance.

He suggested that the present property limitation of $2,500 for a single person and $3,000 for a couple be raised to $5,000 and be extended indefinitely.

Unless the legislature acts before June 30, the present law expires. After that a person couldn't get assistance if he owned property worth $1,500 or a couple had $2,000 worth.

The governor also outlined a method of raising blind pensions from the present top of $40 a month to $50 a month without increasing the use of state funds.

It calls for changes in present laws to conform with a new federal law that would make the state pay only $20 of a monthly $50 pension. The federal government would supply the rest. The state now pays the entire amount.

The state saving would be enough to extend help to the industrially blind—those who have some vision but not enough to work. Only totally blind get help now.

For More To Jobless

A two-way improvement also was recommended for the unemployment compensation system. The governor said the present reserve of almost $200,000,000 could safely be cut by $50,000,000.

At the same time, he said, Missouri has lagged behind other states in its jobless benefits. He recommended the present maximum of $20 for 20 weeks be raised to $25 for 24 weeks.

Smith made no general recommendations for state institutions. Bue he said some existing programs should be expanded and salaries of institutional employes should be increased to fit higher living costs.

He also skated around a specific recommendation on a report of the University of Missouri board of visitors. It has urged a 15-year building program to be financed by a $90,000,000 bond issue. The governor left that up to the legislature.

Because the state cannot invest its surpluses in interest bearing bonds or time deposits, the governor estimated it had lost more than $1,000,000 in revenue during the last two years. He suggested the legislature adopt a constitutional amendment proposal to permit such investments and submit it to the voters.

The governor's detailed budget recommendations will be transmitted to the legislature next week.

Slow Driving On Icy Roads

The majority of motorists in Sedalia obeyed the weather man warning to "drive slow" early today resulting in only one accident reported to the police to be investigated by them, and a minimum of "fender bender" accidents which were not reported.

On the highways motorists, cautious as they were, found the highways extra slick and several experienced the skidding of the motor vehicles and sliding into the ditches or embankments along the highway. This morning several cars were seen along side of Highway 50 on the blacktop pavement west of Dresden, but the damage to the cars was said to have been minor and occupants escaping injury.

Several State Highway patrolmen who were en route to Jefferson City from various western parts of the state, reported seeing these cars. An old model Ford car was reported in the ditch north of Sedalia about five miles, but it was not damaged.

Slow flurries which fell during the morning added to the hazardous driving making the ice on the pavement much slicker.

Condemn Action On an Appeal

LONDON, Jan. 3 — (AP)—Yugoslavia's Communist party today condemned Red China's rejection of the United Nations appeal for a cease-fire in Korea.

It was equally critical of the North Korean invasion of its southern neighbor, which it said was backed by Soviet arms, and of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's march across the 38th parallel towards the Manchurian border.

In a review of the Korean situation, Dorba, official voice of the Yugoslav Communist party, said:

"With the crossing of Chinese troops over the 38th parallel in Korea, new complications are taking shape in the international situation. Peking's (Peiping's) refusal to respond to the UN's appeal for a peaceful settlement of the dispute and to stop at the 38th, deserves full condemnation. Far from contributing to peace, the Chinese action only worsens an already difficult situation in international relations."

Abandon Hope For a Truce

communications, previously published, were presented in chronological order.

Terms Presented

The report disclosed for the first time the cease-fire terms laid down by Gen. MacArthur's U. N. command.

The terms included the following provision:

1. All governments, including Red China, should cease hostilities at once.

2. A demilitarized zone 20 miles wide should be established just north of the 38th parallel.

3. Supervision of the cease-fire should be carried out by a U. N. commission.

4. Prisoners of war should be exchanged on a one-for-one basis, pending final settlement of the Korean question.

5. The General Assembly should be asked to confirm the cease fire arrangements.

The Peiping government called the whole cease-fire effort a trick to permit the U. N. forces to regroup for new attacks. It refused to establish any formal contact with the cease-fire committee.

As soon as Rau finished his report, Soviet Delegate Jacob A. Malik repeated his previous assertions that the U. N. cease-fire move was designed to let United States forces continue fighting in Korea. He said the true U. S. position was shown by American objections to withdrawing foreign troops from Korea.

Malik also cited recent speeches by President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson, the proclamation of a state of emergency, the Brussels conference and the economic blockade of Red China as evidence that the U. S. wants war.

The Soviet delegate said Red China had given the basis for a peaceful settlement in Korea: Withdrawal of foreign troops, permitting Koreans to settle their own problems, withdrawal of the U. S. from Formosa and admission of Red China to the U. N.

Senate Investigators Probe Lt. Gov. Hanley's Story

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON—Sen. Guy Gillette's election investigating committee has dug up sensational information regarding the Dewey-Hanley controversy which turned the GOP high command into a lather last October.

Most sensational development of the recent election campaign was a letter by New York's Lt. Gov. Joe Hanley, candidate for the Senate on the Republican ticket, revealing that he had received certain job promises from Governor Dewey if he would not run for governor. Simultaneously, it was revealed that Hanley had already been loaned $30,000 by anti-Dewey forces including Congressman Kingsland Macy and publisher Frank Gannett, in order to pay back debts and help him run for governor. But, despite this loan, Hanley bowed out of the gubernatorial race in favor of Dewey.

At that time Hanley explained that he needed the money to pay off a debt of honor incurred by his father. However, Senate investigators, after considerable probing, have about come to the conclusion no such debt existed.

Two Senate investigators, Edward McDermott and Bruce Altman, went to see Hanley in a Hudson, N. Y., hospital during the election campaign and inerviewed him in the presence of his doctor and his son.

Hanley told the probers that he had inherited a $75,000 debt from his father in a Muscatine, Iowa, bank which had gone to receivership. Under a state law, Hanley explained, stockholders in a bank had to pay a double assessment. He said he had paid most of it, but had $31,000 left to pay.

Senate investigators asked for more details including the name of the bank, but Hanley's son cut them off.

"Your time is limited," he interrupted. "Let's not go into ancient history."

No Trace of Loan

The Senate agents have now gone to Iowa and checked the six banks in Muscatine County that folded in the 1920's and 1930's. They are: The American Savings Bank of Muscatine, Atalissa Savings Bank of Atalissa, Nichols Savings Bank of Nichols, Citizens Savings Bank of Wilton Junction, Citizens Savings Bank of West Liberty, and the Pleasant Prairie Savings Bank of Pleasant Prairie.

However, they could find no record of any bank stock in the name of John R. Hanley, Joe's father.

The investigators also checked the comptroller of the currency in Washington and failed to find any bank in Muscatine County with a double assessment liability which closed during the period.

They also checked the probate file of Hanley's father at Muscatine. The sworn statement of the probate officer showed the elder Hanley had left $100 in cash, $500 in personal effects, a building value at $20,000, but no stocks, no bonds, and no debts.

In order to be absolutely fair to Hanliey, the Senate subcommittee is now running down another lead. Congressman Macy, who loaned Hanley part of the $30,000, has told the investigators that Hanley mentioned a man in Iowa who kept pressing him for payment of a debt. Senate agents are now trying to run down this man. They are also checking to see whether the debts were in the name of Hanley's mother. So far they have found nothing.

Note—During the 1944 campaign, this columnist checked with Lt. Gov. Hanley regarding reports that he had put his son on the New York state payroll and then had the son's salary paid to him. Hanley admitted that his son Jim had been employed as attorney for Meach, Harmon, Lytell, and Blackmore, a Buffalo accounting firm which was installing a new system of budgeting costs for New York state. During a three-month period, Hanley received the rather large fee of $3,000, of which $2,000 showed up in the account of his father.

Hanley explained: "I didn't know the money had been put in my account until I went to the bank to arrange a loan and they told me I didn't need to borrow any money because my son had deposited $2,000 to my account."

Governor Dewey, in December, 1943, suddenly superseded an Albany grand jury which was scheduled to probe a charge that Hanley put his son on the state payroll and then drew most of the money paid to the son. No explanation was ever given as to why the grand jury investigation was stopped.

Lists Post "Pro-Communist"

Senator Jumping Joe McCarthy, "M. C.," has now placed the Saturday Evening Post and one of its writers, Columnist Joe Alsop, on his list of pro-Communists.

McCarthy made his charge because the Post dared publish an Alsop article critical of Jumping Joe. In retaliation, he followed his usual technique of inserting a letter to the Saturday Evening Post in the Congressional record, and having thus secured immunity from a libel suit, he mailed it to the Post. The letter said:

"It is extremely disturbing to find that, because the elected representatives of the people are now attempting to remove sexual perverts and disloyal people from the government, your magazine lends itself to the Lattimore-Compass-New Masses-Daily worker line that there is being created a dangerous miasma of fear in Washington.

"It is also disturbing to find that this article is almost 100 per cent in line with the official instructions issued to the Communists and fellow traveling members of the press and radio by Gus Hall, national secretary of the Communist party. His instructions were as follows: 'I urge all Communist party members and all anti-Fascists to yield second place to none in the fight to rid our country of the Fascist poison of McCarthyism.'"

In other words, according to Jumping Joe, anyone who criticizes him is a Communist or fellow traveler.

Note— McCarthy neglected, however, to mention that he had harbored a sex pervert in his own office. Even after this pervert was caught by the police and offered to resign, McCarthy told him it wouldn't be necessary.

To Criticize Is Communism

Jumping Joe is also reported behind the recent charge that the Associated Press is angling its news toward "the left." The charge was raised at the Associated Press Managing Editors convention in Atlanta, November 14-18, by C. A. Hazen of the Shreveport (La.) Times. He filed a report citing 58 cases in which he charged the AP with left-wing bias. Most of these cases dealt with the AP's handling of Senator McCarthy.

Meanwhile, two reporters—one with the AP, the other with the United Press—were called in by McCarthy and accused of following the Communist line, simply because they didn't write up McCarthy's Senate speeches in a manner that pleased him.

Guided Missile Work Should Have Highest Priority Tag

By Bruce Biossat

No military man belittles the value of the atomic bomb. But more than a few of them persistently declare that it should not be regarded as a "new" weapon. As they see it, it's just a much bigger bomb.

The military's greatest enthusiasm these days is reserved for something else—the guided missile. The idea of delivering an explosive more or less exactly on target from distances ranging from a few hundred feet to perhaps 1000 miles is revolutionary.

There aren't any guided missiles capable of use at long distances yet. And only our high military men know what we have developed at shorter range. But indications are plentiful that his research has the highest kind of priority in our planning.

Air Secretary Thomas Finletter recently told a congressional group that guided missiles are our greatest hope for effective air defense of the American mainland. Without them, he declared flatly, we can't count on keeping more than a fair percentage of enemy aircraft away from our cities.

Great faith is placed on a guided artillery missile, too. Before the Korean War some promising things were said about this type of weapon. But now, not surprisingly, a veil of complete secrecy has been drawn over this project.

Earlier evidence shows, furthermore, that extensive experimenting with long-range guided missiles has been going on. This is possibly the toughest aspect of the problem, and progress likely is still slow.

The United States brought over some German specialists who had worked on the Nazis V-1 and V-2 weapons. Neither of these can be considered "guided" missiles, but research on them was basic to the more advanced weapons.

All these efforts have acquired marked urgency not alone because of their inherent value in the minds of our military men, but because the Russians are also believed to be pushing guided missile work at a fast pace.

We've all done much worrying about whether the Soviet Union has the atomic bomb in any quantity. If our top soldiers are right, we might be as much or more concerned over their development of guided missiles. The experts don't believe the wild rumors that they have a weapon which can be fired 3000 miles. But they are troubled by the prospect the Reds may have one capable of effective use from the decks of submarines or battleships.

Moreover, there's a feeling the Russians may be concentrating on guided weapons for their own rapidly developing air defenses. If they should succeed in this effort, it might go far toward nullifying the great advantage we now have from superiority in atomic bombs.

The general reaction was that the Korean War debunked the idea of "push-button" warfare such as might be waged with guided missiles. But the fact that fighting there has been remarkably like the traditional combat of old should not blind us to the need for going at full speed in the development of these advanced weapons If and when a test comes, it'll be safer for us if we have the most buttons to push.

The Doctor Says—

Strenuous Sports May Prove Harmful to Some Children

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA 1Service

It is almost universal for the youngsters in their teens to take part in high school athletics.

There is no doubt that this is good on the whole, but one question that has never been satisfactorily answered is whether competitive athletics of the more strenuous kinds are harmful.

This is not much of a problem for girls, but the possible effect of some kinds of sports on the heart can be very important indeed for boys.

Competitive sports like baseball, football and field events would not be likely to harm the hearts of any of those thus engaged who are in good health. Football causes injuries, of course, but not to the heart because there is no long continued muscular effort. Rest periods come at frequent intervals.

The question of injuring the heart is more likely to come up in basketball, crew racing and middle distance track. In these last-mentioned sports the muscles are in constant motion for rather long periods of time, thus throwing a continuous burden on the heart.

Sometimes one hears the expression "athlete's heart." Not all who have studied this question agree there is such a thing.

Dr. J. W. Wilce, who was the famous health director of Ohio State University, studied the heart size in 233 American male athletes. He found that in many of these the heart was enlarged, but that this did not cause any apparent ill effects, if the athlete was otherwise normal.

A heart which is merely enlarged as a result of occasional strenuous exertion usually returns to normal size. Long continued physical strain may result in permanent heart enlargement, though this of itself is not harmful.

However, the person who has any trace of heart disease and engages in extreme physical effort is much more liable to serious injury.

From the practical point of view there is little danger to the heart from any sport which does ot involve continuous muscular exertion at top speed for several minutes at a time. In sports that do require this exertion, the heart must be carefully watched for evidence of disease or strain.

Beware Even Minor Ills

It seems particularly undesirable to engage in this form of athletics during or immediately after even a minor illness like a common cold. Also if the growth is especially rapid, there may be some increased danger of injuring the heart by over-exertion.

Everyone agrees that proper training before engaging in competitive sports is highly desirable. Physical examinations beforehand and repeated at frequent intervals are well worthwhile.

Adolescents, especially those who are in a stage of rapid growth, need to use particular care. It seems most probable that after about the age of 18 the heart and the other bodily organs and functions are better able to stand physical strain than they are during the preceding years.

Heres the Hubby's Manual One Being Easy to Live With

Since a recent column outlined the qualities that make a woman easy to get along with, a number of women readers—some of them in an embattled mood—have demanded a column of "how to be easy to live with" aimed directly at husbands. This, they feel, would even the score.

Well, here goes. This is exclusively for husbands and, judging from the letters from some of your wives, you need these hints.

ONE. Share the doings of the day with your wife. Don't clam up as soon as you get home in the evening. The "strong silent type," with emphasis on the "silent," is a bore to live with.

TWO. Have enough common courtesy to let your wife know if you are going to be late to dinner. Nothing annoys a woman more than to get a meal ready to serve and then have to sit and wait because the man of the family hasn't bothered to say he'll be an hour later than usual.

Pick 'Em Up

THREE. Be neat. No woman likes to feel like a servant—and that's the way she feels if she has to pick up after you constantly.

FOUR. Show some appreciation for the things your wife does for your comfort. And go easy on the criticism. Praise gets better and quicker results than fault-finding.

FIVE. Don't be a stay-at-home stick-in-the-mud. Most wives like some social life, but it isn't much fun if they have to drag their husbands along.

SIX. Work out some kind of financial arrangement so that your wife doesn't have to ask you for every cent she spends. That may make you feel big and important—but it's hard on her dignity.

SEVEN. Tell her once in a while that you couldn't get along without her. And that will make her easier to live with, too. For the woman doesn't exist who doesn't need to feel necessary to her husband.

State Senator Dies in Accident

DEXTER, Mo., Jan. 4—(AP)—State Senator Yewell Lawrence of the 25th district, was instantly killed Tuesday when his automobile wrecked on highway 51 near Lutesville.

Lawrence was apparently alone and was enroute to Jefferson City for the opening tomorrow of the State Legislature. He was 44.

Lawrence was elected to the State Senate in 1948.

Warning Given On Reward Offer

GLASGOW, Scotland, Jan. 3—(AP)—A Scot who offered a reward for word of Britain's stolen coronation stone said Tuesday he has received a letter warning: "Traitors are shot."

He is Ephraim Connor, a Glasgow businessman, who with two other Scots put up 500 pounds ($1,400) for information leading to return of the stone.

The stone, a symbol of Scottish nationality since 840 A. D., was snatched from Westminster Abbey on Christmas morning.

Connor said the anonymous letter writer declared "the stone means more to the Scottish people than money."

Smake Pall in the New York Station

NEW YORK, Jan. 3—(AP)—Fire in a Pullman supply locker engulfed a part of the big Grand Central terminal in dense smoke Tuesday, delaying train departures by as much as 30 minutes.

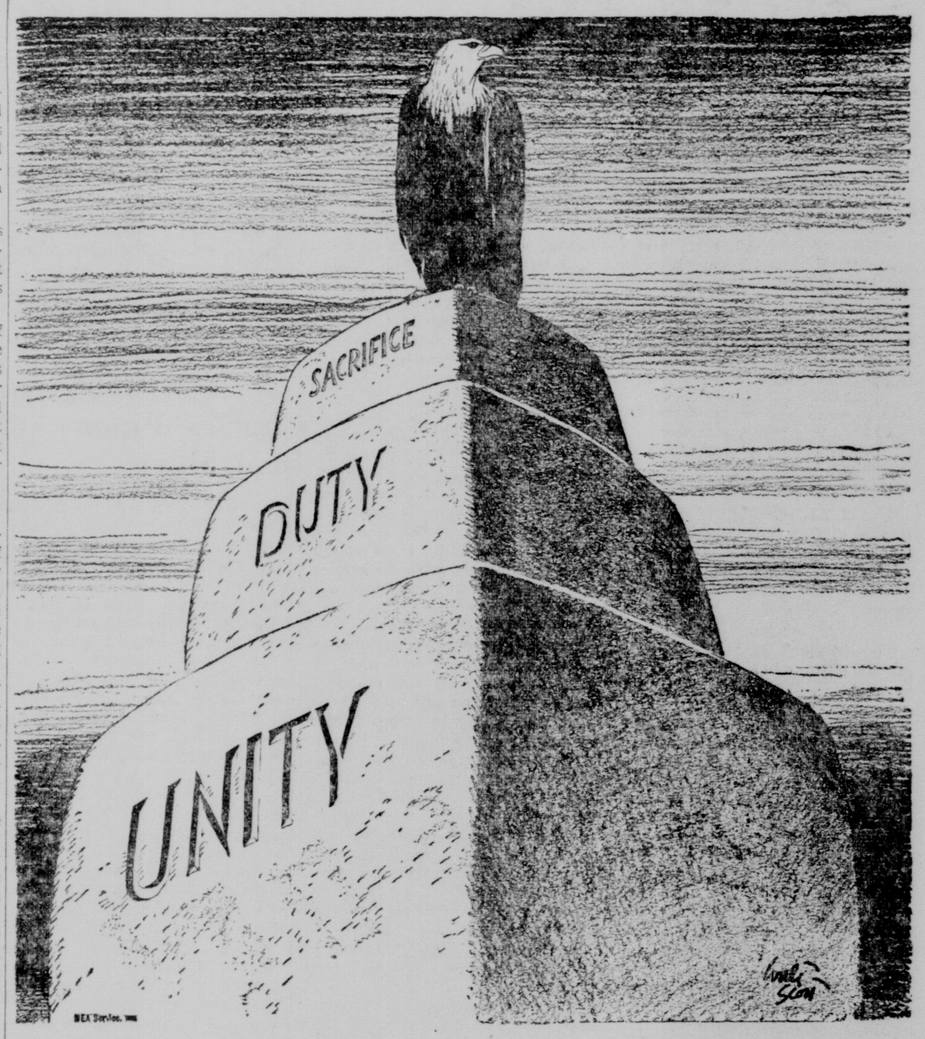

The thick pall of smoke billowed through the western wing of the station. The fire originated in a sub-level supply locker where linen and fluorescent lamps are kept.

What the State of the Union Should Be

State of Union Address Monday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3—(AP)—President Truman will deliver his state of the union message in person to a joint session of the new congress at 1 p. m. (EST) (Noon CST) next Monday.

The message which customarily starts off a new session of the national legislature is still unfinished. The President made considerable progress in its formulation during a four-day cruise on the Potomac ending late Monday.

The White House also announced that the annual budget message setting out in detail the huge expenditures planned for a stronger defense will be delivered to congress on Jan. 15, one week after the state of the union document.

The U.S. National Museum has listed in its catalogues more than 27,000,000 biological specimens—with 11,600,000 of them insects; 9,250,000 mollusks, and 2,400,000 plants.

This Last Night

By Ferd Nauheim

COPYRIGHT 1951, BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: May, a waitress in Pete's tavern in a West Virginia coal mining town, watches a stranger who sits alone in a booth. He's dressed like a miner, but there's something about him that makes May curious—he looks very tired, and as if he were afraid or in great sorrow. When the radio starts a newscast, the stranger listens. A commentator is telling the story of what he terms "a miscarriage of justice."

II

THE listeners in the bar room waited for the radio commentator to go on with his story. Finally, his voice came again from the loud speaker:

"Many of you within the sound of my voice tonight are men who, with hearts beating wildly, eyes moist with tears of gratitude, with love and hope soaring to the skies, tread with eager feet paths leading to doors such as his. Many others of you stood in those doorways with hearts and arms open to receive these boys with wild joy. You folks know what his emotions must have been. Up to that point you have much in common. Here the story differs.

"Instead of the anticipated, longed for, needed warmth of love and devotion, in place of paeons of thanksgiving and expressions of endearment, this boy was met with the chill of the Polar North—with a declaration that he wasn't wanted—that another had taken his place.

"The only balm in his homecoming was the unspoiled, natural, heart-filling love of a little girl for the Daddy she adored; a love that had withstood the poisoned attacks of this false wife and mother.

"We humans are strange and diverse creatures. Dealt such a blow at such a moment, can you say how you would have reacted? Some would strike out with their fists. Some would kill. Some would slink away in abject despair. This lad swallowed his bleeding pride. Through the day he pleaded with his wife to give their marriage the chance it deserved. With what an anguish of love and despair he must have held that little eight-year-old girl of his. And then, in the evening, he ran out into the streets to be alone with his awful torment.

"Late at night he showed up at his brother's apartment. He had been drinking heavily but his mind was cold and clear. There he sat with his head in his trembling hands and sobbed out his pitiful tale. He told his brother too of his concern for his little girl. From her lips he had learned of the long hours she had spent alone and unprotected while the mother was out with the man who had alienated her from the clean and decent love of the absent husband; of wretched mornings when the mother slept away her dissipation and awoke cross, angry, and cruel.

"Later that night he did what the Germans had failed to do. He destroyed what was left of his life.

"THE brother, who only recently had returned from a long and honorable career in the Navy, went to the courts and asked for custody of the child. But it was not to be. The man who had appropriated the wife of the soldier was a person of wealth and influence. Expensive lawyers, legal shenanigans, pressure and power were brought to bear. The courts said, 'No. The child stays with her mother.'

"You know the rest of the story. You know that on Monday afternoon of this week when little Judy Twing skipped down the steps of her school she found her uncle, Paul Twing, waiting for her. He was waiting in his car. They went for a ride—a long, long ride. Four days have passed and no one has seen them since.

"This, then, is kidnaping. Kidnaping is a crime punishable by death. And yet, I ask you, my friends, do you consider Paul Twing a criminal? Do you think he has done something that calls for the supreme penalty? Do you think that if the soldier had been your brother, that lovable little girl your niece, that you might have done what Paul Twing did? It is a strange case and these are strange and sad circumstances when a man must take such measures to do the thing he knows to be right."

THE voice from the little box over the bar carried on with some news from the Far East. May let her shoulders sag. She had been listening with tight attention.

The case had held her interest from the time it first had appeared in the papers. Those things the commentator had said had followed her own sympathy and reasoning without deviation. His compelling words had moved her and she was aware that her eyes had filled, that tears were running down her cheeks. She dabbed at them with her apron.

The man had settled back in the booth and was staring at her. His voice was very low. "Are you so sorry for the mother?"

"For the mother?" she repeated incredulously.

"Sure. She must be worried sick about the kid."

She made no effort to keep the contempt she felt out of her voice.

"You're probably trying to be funny," she said acidly. "Well, it isn't funny. I think it's terrible."

* * *

HE just sat there and toyed with his beer glass. She wondered what he was really thinking. She wondered what would happen if Paul Twing were captured.

"Do you think they'll really kill him if he's caught?" she asked.

"That's the law," he said softly. He was still rolling the glass back and forth between stiff fingers but his eyes were on her face.

"I hope to God they never find them!" May exclaimed.

"With five thousand reward offered by the mother's boy friend?" he reminded.

She waved the suggestion away. "Who would take such money?"

Tipton

Mrs. Thomas A. Miller

W. A. Hecht of Andale, Kas., has arrived for a holiday visit here in the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Hecht.

An attractive Christmas portrayal is that of the nativity scene on the west lawn of the Conn Funeral home, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Conn having arranged the scene.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Hays entertained 22 family members with a turkey dinner at their home Sunday, the occasion being their forty-second wedding anniversary. Added guests were Mrs. O. R. Hays and son, Douglas.

Mr. and Mrs. Hays will leave Saturday for St. Louis to spend Christmas with their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Frerking and son, Billy Preston.

Although there were a hundred more sacks of treats prepared over last year for the Chamber of Commerce Santa Claus party in Tipton, Saturday afternoon, there were some 50 children who did not receive a treat. Their names were taken and Santa left their treats at the Tipton Farmers Bank where they may call and get them.

The free picture show at the Tipton theater which followed the treat-giving was packed to capacity and all in all it was a happy day for the many children and grown-ups in town.

Jolly St. Nicholas performed well his duties through the person of Oscar Stratman.

THE A B C's OF DRY CLEANING
By Doc Bob, Your Dry Cleaner

Doc Bob

Look at the belt of practically any coat or dress you buy today . . . you will see a composition reinforcement that looks a lot like leather. This reinforcement is affected by dry-cleaning solvent and also has a tendency to fray. Often the belt is interlined with buckram that has been glued to the fabric; in dry-cleaning, the glue or cement may come through to the right side and leave an ugly discoloration. The buckle itself is usually made of metal to which fabric is glued. It is very difficult and often impossible to do a satisfactory job on such belts, and after all, the belt is an important accessory to the garment.

Battle For Seoul Being Waged as Reds Storm Troops of UN

reported from an air base in southern Japan that air traffic going to Seoul's Kimpo airfield, 10 miles northwest of the capital, was suspended "temporarily" at 9:25 p. m. (6:25 a. m. CST).

Far East Air Forces headquarters in Tokyo said it did not have this report. It was not clear when flights to Kimpo would be resumed.

A.P. correspondent William J. Waugh made the last commercial telephone call from Seoul. He reported the latest military developments and the pitiful exodus of the remaining civilians.

He could hear the muffled boom of big guns in the distance.

Until he was cut off, Waugh relayed the word that there was little opposition to the Chinese advancing on the city from abandoned Uijongbu, 12 miles north.

Heavy casualties on both sides were reported.

The Communists struck first before dawn in light strength. They punched an opening between British and American units and poured through the line 10 miles northeast of Seoul and two miles south of abandoned Uijongbu. More and more Reds swarmed through the gap. They stepped-up the intensity of attack with fresh troops.

Shortly after the assault began, an American divisional officer told A.P. correspondent Stan Swinton the Chinese "are moving recklessly through the hole in our line, risking air attack in a way I have rarely seen."

The rigidly disciplined enemy moved down open roads against the blazing strafing runs of low-flying Allied warplanes. Carrier planes of Task Force 77 joined Fifth Air Force fighters and bombers in supporting the withdrawing United Nations ground forces.

Pilots reported killing an estimated 1,200 Reds. This brought to nearly 10,000 the Red casualties from air attack alone since the enemy offensive began New Year's eve—but hundreds of thousands of Communists were rolling southward.

Democrats in Assembly Win In Skirmish

plans to offer a resolution for quick determination.

There were no hitches as the Senate swung into election of its permanent officers and employes. Sen. William M. Quinn, veteran Maywood Democrat, is president pro tem, and Joseph A. Bauer of St. Louis is Senate secretary for a second time.

Sen. Richard J. Chamier (D) of Moberly, was confirmed as majority floor leader at a Democratic caucus this morning. He was elected after Sen. Anthony M. Webbe (R) of St. Louis, chosen last month, was advised by his doctor not to take the job.

There were no floral displays and Senate galleries were only parly filled.

That was as a sharp contrast to the crowded House chamber, where the speaker's desk was banked with flowers and smaller bouquets adorned every desk.

Leaders of both houses said the Legislature probably would adjourn late today until next week.

Rep. Roy Hamlin (D) of Hannibal was re-elected speaker, as scheduled. He has been ill but made it to the opening session today.

There was a good natured partitsan tussle over Hamlin's election, however. The Republicans put up Rep. Lester Vonderschmidt (R) of Holt County. But the vote, 84 to 68, gave it to Hamlin.

The Democrats hold an 85 to 69 edge in the house. One Republican and one Democrat were absent on this opening day. They were Rep. Charles H. Pulis (D) of Audrain County, who is ill, and Rep. A. H. Zimmerschied (R) of Benton County. They will have to be sworn in later.

Another show of politics came up in election of a speaker pro tem. Rep. John L. Sando (R) of Dunklin County was re-elected in an 83 to 66 contest with Rep. Clara Aiken Speer (R) of Jackson County.

Both the defeated candidates asked immediately that the votes for speaker and speaker pro tem me shown as unanimous.

With 154 members in the House, the oaths were administered by Supreme Court Judge Ernest M. Tipton to clusters of 25 representatives at a time.

By resolution, the house appointed three lesser officers without difficulty. They were:

Former Rep. Ray H. Fordham of Brookfield, as chief clerk, G. R. McHenry of Iron County, as sergeant at arms and the Rev. Woodrow Moore of Macon as chaplain.

Gay Note For 82nd Congress

ate committee is investigating his campaign because of charges that "scurrilous" literature was used against Tydings.

In the next group to be sworn in was Senator Dirksen (R-Ill). He defeated former Senate Democratic leader Scott Lucas in the November election.

After administering the oath, Barkley shook hands with each of those sworn in.

The only new Senator not present was Republican Gov. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania. He plans to delay taking his seat until after his term as governor expires in mid-January.

After the 15-minute swearing-in ceremonies, Barkley expressed the hope that all the Senators would take a cue from the bright new chamber and go to work in a spirit of determination, courage and cooperation.

He urged them to solve in these critical times—in the words of Lincoln—That liberty shall not perish from the earth and that "We shall continue to be a nation of the people, by the people and for the people."

Just 38 minutes after convening, the Senate recessed until Friday.

The old Congress—which went out of existence yesterday—met for many months in temporary quarters while House and Senate chambers were remodeled.

In the house, the members stood and recited the Lord's Prayer with their chaplain at the opening of the session.

There were a score of small children on the floor—sons and daughters of members who had brought them to see their dads take office.

All of the new members were sworn in at one time.

As everybody expected, Sam Rayburn, Texas Democrat, was elected speaker. The Republicans nominated their floor leader, Joseph W. Martin Jr., of Massachusetts, and there was the formality of a roll call that brought a strict party line division.

Rep. Dingell, Michigan Democra, got confused and replied "Martin" when his name was called, but quickly said he meant to vote "Rayburn."

Ice Coating On Highways

today, slowing traffic and disrupting power service.

Cold weather moved in over north central regions and temperatures dropped to below zero in parts of Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Dakotas this morning. Blizzard conditions were forecast for the Dakotas and Montana. The cold air was expected to spread over the entire region by tonight and early tomorrow.

The wind, rain and snow storm which lashed parts of the Pacific northwest yesterday abated today.

Freezing rain fell in a narrow band from southwestern Missouri northeastward to northern lower Michigan. Travel on glazed highways slowed to a crawl in some areas. Rain fell east of the area from the central gulf states to the lower great lakes region.

More snow hit upper Michigan and parts of Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and Washington. There were showers near the coastal regions of the Pacific northwest.

Temperatures were mild in the rainy belt and eastward to the Atlantic coast but dropped in the plains states and parts of Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin. It was 13 below zero at Grantsburg, Wis.

Comparatively mild temperatures were reported over most of the eastern and southern states.

Probably Call for Clarification

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said today that the west must have "further clarification" of Russia's position on a proposed four power meeting before it can assume that Russia is ready to take up outstanding world problems.

The United States, Britain and France, he disclosed, have already opened discussions about what move they will make next in response to the latest note on this subject from Moscow. Acheson's statements, at a news conference, implied that they may ask Russia to explain its position further.

Contrary to some interpretations in news dispatches from London and Paris, Acheson declared that the Soviet note received here Monday does not accept a proposal of the western powers for exploratory talks on world problems prior to a meeting of the four foreign ministers.

All the Russians are willing to do on this point, Acheson said, is have a meeting of deputies to discuss an agenda for the foreign ministers.

Actually, Acheson said, the new Russian note "merely restates the Soviet position" first put forward two months ago that the foreign ministers should meet to discuss German rearmament.

On Dec. 22 the United States, Britain and France, Acheson added, rejected any council of foreign ministers meeting on the subject of Germany alone and called instead for broader discussions on all the problems whose solution would contribute to an improvement in relations between the Soviet Union and the western powers.

Injured in Three Car Collision

Fred B. Brummett, 1700 South Missouri avenue, suffered a fractured collarbone and a fractured rib this morning at 6:45 o'clock when his '42 Dodge he was driving was involved in a three-car accident at Broadway and Harrison avenue. His car headed west was in collision as he turned south off Broadway onto Harrison, with a '49 International truck, also going west, driven by Henry Ash, 1312 East Tenth street, and owned by the Missouri state highway department. It slid into the left side of the Dodge.

Following the impact, the truck slid to the north side of Broadway, still headed in a westerly direction and was struck from behind by a '42 Ford driven by Mrs. Henry Schroeder, 318 West Broadway. The Schroeder car is owned by Henry Schoeder.

Mr. Brummett was taken to the Bothwell hospital, where he was given treatment by Dr. A. L. Walter and dismissed to go to his home.

Approximately $500 damage was done to the Brummett car. The entire left side was caved in. The front and rear of the International truck were smashed and the Ford's right front headlight was shattered and the right fender dented. An adjustment was made at the scene of the accident.

Hunger Strike by The 'Red Witch'

AUGSBURG, Germany, Jan. 3—(AP)—Ilse Koch, the "Red Witch of Buchenwald," accused of faking insanity during her atrocities trial, has gone on a hunger strike, her lawyer said today. The lawyer said Ilse told him, as her long trial was resumed, that she had not eaten for several days. She is accused of causing the murder or torture of hundreds of Buchenwald concentration camp inmates.

Pale and listless, she showed no reaction even when Herbert Gossman, once a prisoner of the Nazis in Buchenwald, bitterly wept while denouncing her as a "beast."

Three weeks ago, Mrs. Koch burst into a screaming rage during her trial. She returned to the courtroom only last week after two weeks of medical observation during which doctors testified that she was faking to "sabotage or delay" her trial.

Prayers For New Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3—(AP)—President Truman joined high officals of three branches of government in special services today at the historic National Presbyterian church where prayers were said for world peace and divine guidance for the new Congress.

The President sat in a front pew and took communion with the several hundred worshippers toward the end of the 40-minute service.

Officiating at the special service were the Rev. Hugh I. Evans, moderator of the general assembly of the presbyterian church in the United States of America (northern): The Rev. Benjamin R. Lacy, moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States (southern), and the Rev. Edward L. R. Elson, minister of the local church.

Senator Martin (R-Pa), an elder in the northern church, and Senator Stennis (D-Miss), a southern church elder, participated in serving the Communion.

Special prayers were said for the President, Congress, the armed forces, justice and freedom, and peace.

The pew occupied by Mr. Truman this morning was regularly used by Presidents Jackson, Pierce, Polk, Cleveland and Buchanan, and by Vice Presidents Colfax and Hobart.

Britain Lends Ear to Proposal

LONDON, Jan. 3—(AP)—Britain seemed today inclined to accept Russia's proposal for big four talks on Germany even though the Soviet offer falls well short of the West's desire for a discussion of wider world issues.

The official British attitude is by no means set, however.

A decision will be made only after Russia's note has been carefully analyzed and debated by the American, British and French governments. Talks among the three nations already have begun in Washington, a foreign office spokesman reported today.

Some British informants privately expressed the view that Britain may well urge the United States to accept Russia's limited proposition. The Soviets called for a foreign ministers' meeting to discuss "first and foremost" Germany. The obscure note did not exclude the possibility that other East-West issues could be discussed, although it left little room for them.

These Are Just a Few of Thousands of Records of Folks Who Once Had Such Deficiencies

Mrs. Mabel Kitchen, 1650 Amsterdam, Cincinnati, Ohio: "Before I started HADACOL, I had aches and pains of neuritis in my shoulders, my back and arms. I could hardly move without having those terrible aches and pains. Then I heard about HADACOL from a very good friend of mine. After the second bottle the aches and pains were about gone. I'm just starting my fourth bottle and now I'm on top of the world. The aches and pains are completely gone. I recommend HADACOL to all my friends."

Harry Springer, 5608 Greer Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri: "I had neuritis pains for quite some time and tried expensive treatments but continued to suffer. Then I read about HADACOL in the newspaper and I bought my first bottle. Within a week I felt quite a bit better. After the third bottle I had no pains or trouble at all. I was always tired and listless, but after a few bottles of HADACOL I felt like getting out and doing things. I recommend HADACOL to anyone. Right now, five of my co-workers are taking HADACOL on my recommendation."

Why not start taking HADACOL this very day. Give it a chance to relieve the REAL CAUSE of your cruel neuritis pain when due to lack of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin in your system. YOU OWE IT TO YOURSELF.

Why HADACOL Comes in Special Liquid Form—Why It Reaches Every Part of Your Body

A.P.F. (Animal Protein Factor Lederle Derived From Aureomycin Per Pound 58¢ $58.00 per C.

By A. B. WARREN

A.P.F. (animal protein factor)

Mr. Farmer we sell A.P.F. so that you can mix it into your own feed for Hogs or Chickens and Turkeys. It is the same A.P.F. you hear about on the r adio and see advertised by several of the larger feed manufacturers. It is derived from Aureomycin.

We have had many favorable reports about rapid weight gains from it's use.

Animal protein factor is not actually a protein but is a water soluble B-complex vitamin one of which is B12. It is a well-established fact that pigs require this factor for growth and efficient utilization of their feed. It is easy and inexpensive to use. Mix in the proportion of 5 pounds to a ton of feed. We sell it at 58c per pound. Ask your County Extension Agent or Veterans Training instructor or write to the university.

Cyclist and Elephant Collide

KHARTOUM, Sudan—(AP)—The official Sudan Record made note of this jungle traffic accident.

A cyclist rang his bell going around a bend on a road in Equatoria Province—but ran into an elephant coming in the opposite direction. The cyclist fell off and ran into the bush. The elephant, uninjured, hurled the bicycle after him and continued on his way.

Splitting Two Million From Bowl Games

Seven Colleges to To Receive About $75,000 Apiece

By Will Grimsley

NEW YORK, Jan. 3—(AP)—The football bowl sponsors began ladling out some $2,000,000 in gravy today, with seven colleges assured of sopping up $75,000 or more apiece.

They are Oklahoma, Kentucky, California, Tennessee, Texas, Clemson and Miami.

Because of the intricate conference commitments, it takes a battery of auditors to figure out the distribution. But when it's done, Oklahoma comes out best of all — even though the Sooners couldn't do it on the field against Kentucky.

The Sooners stand to pocket $113,300 in round figures from the $120,000 handed out to each of the combatants in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. The other $6,700 goes to the Big Seven conference, which takes 11 per cent of the first $55,000 and one per cent of each $5,000 over that.

Kentucky, 13-7 winner of the game, must fork over 25 per cent right away to the Southeastern conference, leaving the Wildcats $90,000 to grow fat on.

California also should net around $90,000 from its performance in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, which grossed around $335,000 after taxes.

The Rose Bowl turns over the money to the two conferences—the Big Ten and the Pacific coast—and this year it amounts to about $165,000 for each.

The Golden Bears, beaten by Michigan 14-6, get 50 per cent of the overall conference take plus one-ninth of what's left. The other eight-ninths is distributed in equal portions to other members of the conference.

A unique "share the wealth" plan leaves Michigan, winner of the oldest and richest bowl of them all. Holding a very short end of the stick.

Big Ten Share Strong

The Big Ten carves its $165,000 into 11 little hunks, giving two to Michigan and one to each of the other conference members. The Wolverines should wind up with around $30,000.

The Cotton Bowl, where some 75,000 watched Tennessee stun Texas 20-14, says the two teams will get around $120,000 each. The Southeastern and Southwest conferences take one-fourth, leaving the contestants $90,000.

Clemson and Miami each received $75,000 flat for playing in the Orange Bowl at Miami.

Wyoming was guaranteed $30,000 and Washington & Lee $25,000 by the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville. The Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., is forking over $15,000 to Cincinnati and $12,000 to West Texas State. The Salad Bowl is dishing out $12,500 to Miami of Ohio and $8,500 to Arizona State.

Morris Harvey and Emory and Henry each received $5,000 from the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla. Lacrosse and Valparaiso played for charity in the Cigar Bowl at Tampa, which grossed around $32,000.

But that's nothing. The Pineapple Bowl at Honolulu drew only $9,705 net—not enough to pay Denver's $17,000 expenses for the boat ride.

Hawaii university, which won the game 28-27, dug down in its coffers to pay the freight.

Conservation Roadside Check Agents Find Few Game Violations

Above, cars heading west on highway 60 near Rogersville being stopped by Conservation Agents at a roadside hunter check held during the afternoon of Sunday, Dec. 17. During the four-hour check, 836 cars were stopped, 63 of which contained 115 hunters—most of them returning to the Springfield vicinity from a day of hunting in Webster and Wright counties.

The first picture at right shows the Southwest District's Supervisor of Agents Robert Worthington checking Springfieldian Forest Hodges' bag of quail. Though there were few limit takes, the 115 hunters checked had 293 birds in addition to six rabbits, one raccoon, one oppossum and a squirrel (which was, of course, out of season). Altogether, only nine arrests were made, and violations included such items as: hunting without permit, use of unplugged shotguns, and taking wildlife out of season.

At extreme right, Greene County Conservation Agent Herman A. Roehrs inspects items siezed during the check which were used in the illegal take of wildlife. On the trunk lid of the car can be seen illegally-taken wildlife.

Worthington said that this roadside check, one of many held over the state since the system was begun in 1939, was successful. A reporter at the scene asked each of 12 hunters whether or not he favored road checks and if he had been checked at a roadside station before. Eleven of the 12 voiced their approval of the method and eight had been checked from one to several times at such stations.

Unbeaten Bradley Selected Nation's Number 1 Cage Team

NEW YORK, January 3—(AP)—Bradley's unbeaten basketball club, with 13 straight wins and a Sugar Bowl title, was voted the Number 1 team in the nation by 215 writers and sportscasters in the weekly Associated Press poll.

Kentucky, leader in the first two weeks of the poll, was knocked off the top by its upset loss to St. Louis Friday night, 43-42, in overtime. The Wildcats wound up in third place, behind Bradley and the Oklahoma Aggies.

Bradley moved out front by whipping previously undefeated Indiana, bowling over Syracuse and St. Louis at the Sugar Bowl party and then rushing home to bop Harvard.

Aggies Take Runner-Up Spot

The Oklahoma Aggies took over the No. 2 slot by running their streak to 12 in a row with wins over Baylor, Texas and Arkansas. Kentucky came back after the loss to St. Louis at New Orleans to whip Syracuse, 69-59, in the Sugar Bowl consolation finals.

Behind the big three the top ten is filled in the following order: Long Island, St. Louis, Indiana, North Carolina State, Villanova, Kansas State and Wyoming.

Clair Bee's towering Long Island club with eight straight including Western Kentucky and South Carolina, their latest victims, was placed fourth. The Blackbirds face an important test Thursday in Bowling Green. Next week they meet St. Louis, currently No. 5 in the rankings after the recent successes against Holy Cross and Kentucky. St. Louis was down among the also rans a week ago.

Indiana dropped a peg to sixth after its defeat by Bradley but bounced back to thump Drake. The Hoosiers open their Big 10 season Saturday against Ohio State.

North Carolina Ranked Seventh

North Carolina State swept through the Dixie classic with victories over Tulane, Wake Forest and Colgate and then routed Yale to boost its record to 11-1, good for seventh place.

Next came Villanova, the team that beat N. C. State two weeks ago. Villanova made it 8-0 for the season by trouncing Detroit and Tennessee. Creighton and Fordham are just ahead.

Kansas State added the Big Seven Conference tournament to its win list by beating Oklahoma, Nebraska and Minnesota for a 9-2 record. The wins rocketed Kansas State among the top teams in the nation despite earlier losses to Long Island and Indiana.

Wyoming with a 12-game string won its Skyline Six Conference tournament over Colorado A and M., Utah State and Utah to move into the top ten.

St. John's was a close-up eleventh after triumphs over Temple and San Francisco. Going into tonight's game with City College, St. John's had an 8-2 record.

The standings with first place votes in parentheses (points figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis). Team records also in parentheses, include Jan. 1 games.

Dr. Boger Gets Two Deer in Hunt

Each year Dr. J. W. Boger goes into the Rio Grande valley to hunt deer near Big Wells, Texas. This year he got two buck, one a 9-pointer. He and Mrs. Boger left the sixth of December and returned New Year's eve.

While Dr. Boger was hunting Mrs. Boger visited friends in Austin and McAllen and took a trip into Old Mexico. On the return trip they visited Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kroencke, who are well known in Sedalia.

The deer are being butchered and the venison packed in Texas for shipment. The head of the 9-point buck is being mounted and will be placed in the lake home of the Bogers.

Team Tag Match Heads Jan. 10 Wrestling Card

Team match event will be the top billing on the Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion when the 1951 wrestling season opens at the National Guard armory on Wednesday night January 10. New faces will be seen in the three event program.

Appearing in the team match will be Ronnie Etchison, of St. Joseph, teamed with William "Bill" McIntyre, Otterville against "Sailor Dick" Raines of Dallas Texas, and Jerry Meeker of Missoula, Mont. This will be for two of three falls with an hour time limit.

In the semi-windup two new faces will be seen in Nick Roberts o. Dover, Ark., and Lavern Baxter o. Boston, Mass., this in a two fall out of three event with a 45-minute limit.

Opening the evening wrestling card will be Jack Terry of Dayton, Ohio, and Joe Benicasa, Stockton, Calif.

Terry is known as the "sleep king" and has a nack of being able to put a wrestler asleep if he gets a proper hold. It is something new in the sport and isn't anything like the jiu jitsu used by the "Great Moto".

Promoter Pearl Christy who was a visitor in Sedalia Wednesday announced a full winter and spring program for 1951 with some of the best cards ever seen in Sedalia to be presented.

Smith-Cotton Opens Home Season Tonight

The Smith-Cotton Tigers will open their home cage season tonight on the Smith-Cotton court against an always tough College High School team of Warrensburg. The Bengals are sporting a record of seven wins out of ten games to date. Little is known of the College High team other than they have a rangy team, that averages over six feet.

The Tigers took the Warrensburg five handily in two outings last year, but Coach Clarence Whiteman is reported to have a power house this season.

Starting for Coach Jim Ball will be Bill "Gabby" McCrary and Claude Murphy at the guard positions. Bill "Bones" Morgan and Johnson will hold down the forward slots while big Bob Shawver will fill in the center slot.

Runs Out of Ring During a Fight

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 3—(AP)—Billy Smith, 163, of Oakland, Calif., simply stopped fighting, jumped from the ring and ran to his dressing room last night in the eighth round of a March of Dimes benefit boxing bout with Archie Moore, 182, Toledo, Ohio.

The referee immediately awarded Moore a technical knockout. The bout was scheduled for ten rounds.

Smith had been down for a count of eight earlier, when Moore caught him as he turned to yell for his manager. Moore had come back strong from a knockdown in the sixth and was drubbing Smith when the latter quit at 2:45 of the eighth round.

Later in the dressing round the husky California Negro boy said: "I just quit. I had no battle strategy and I was all confused."

Fireworks in the Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 3—(AP)—The 17th annual Orange Bowl festival ended last night with a musical fireworks program before 30,000 persons in the Orange Bowl stadium.

The program included a repetition of the King Orange Jamboree Parade, the between-halves pageant staged at Monday's Orange Bowl football game, and a gigantic fireworks display.

Nearly 50 lighted floats from the parade circled the field, followed by bands marching in triple time behind high-stepping, fancy twirling majorettes.

The Orange Bowl celebration began with the North-South all-star charity football game on Christmas night and included a tennis tournament, boat races, basketball and the football game between Miami and Clemson on New Year's day.

Louis Tangles With Beshore

DETROIT, Jan. 3 — (AP) — Joe Louis served notice Tuesday he will attempt to soothe his hurt feelings by scoring a quick knockout over Freddy Beshore of Harrisburg, Pa., in their scheduled 10-rounder here Wednesday night.

The former heavyweight champion made it plain that he is unhappy over some reports that he has lost his K. O. wallop and no linger is the dreaded brown bomber of old.

'I've got the old punch back in my right hand now," he declared today. "I figure Beshore is my kind of fighter for he keeps boring in and I hope to knock him out."

Louis has made no secret of the fact that he was irritated by some criticism of his most recent fights with heavyweight champ Ezzard Charles and Cesar Brion of Argentina.

Louis and Beshore both recall with sadness that they were beaten by Charles last year. In Louis case, it was via a decision; Beshore lost in the 14th round in his fight with Charles.

In Beshore, Louis meets a 25-year-old navy veteran whose handlers claim he never has been knocked off his feet in 54 pro fights.

The blonde Pennsylvania fighter has stressed body attack almost entirely in his fight preparations and indicated he would try to wear Louis down.

The less experienced Beshore will weigh in about 188 thus giving away about 23 pounds to Louis.

The International Boxing club forecast a turnout of about 11,000 fans for the Olympia stadium fight which will be broadcast and telecast. The main event is scheduled to get under way at 10 p. m. (EST).

Royals to Play Denver Saturday

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 3 (Special) — This is the month that Coach Wilf Field of the Kansas City "Royals" predicted his club would be out of the cellar in the U. S. hockey league.

The Royals have seven home games and the first of this month in the Pla-Mor arena will be with the Denver "Falcons" on Saturday night, January 6. The face-off will be at 8:15 o'clock.

Of chief interest will be that Joe McArthur will be playing against his old team. McArthur, recently obtained from Denver, does his best playing against the Falcons.

Won New Year's Night

The Royals handed the Falcons a 6-2 shellacking in the mile high city New Year's night with Cal Stearns, Ike Hildebrand and Joe McArthur doing all of the scoring. Stearns tallied three goals for the "hat trick," Hildebrand made a pair and McArthur tallied once.

Stearns, incidentally, grabbed himself eight points in two successive games on three goals and five assists as he is making another drive to regain the scoring lead. Stearns is the top center in the loop and his passing is great to watch. Cal is the type player who never quits. He reminds fans of a fullback. Several times this season Stearns has had rival players hanging all over him but still the strong Kansas City center has managed to shoot the black wafer into the twine.

Jack McGill, veteran goalie, is back in stride again after a much needed rest and each member of the team wants to carry out Field's prediction.

Kansas City is at full strength again and the club is one of the best balanced in the league with the exception of Omaha.

St. Paul on Tuesday

After the Denver match, St. Paul comes to Kansas City Tuesday, January 9 and then Milwaukee will be on hand Friday night, January 12.

The Royals have the necessary spirit and aggressiveness to carry them back into contention and this is their big month since they have only three more road games.

A rookie doing yeoman service is Sandy Air, who returned to the McArthur-Delory line after two weeks on the side lines with an injury. His quick thinking set up the play by which Joe McArthur was able to score his first goal against his former teammates in Denver.

Coach Field's strategy for the coming Saturday nights is to bottle up the high scoring threats, George Agar, Jack Geisebrecht and Hal Brown. If successful in this move, Kansas City should come out victorious.

The world that greets 1951 is one big pattern of Soviet-sponsored trouble. Note the growing land mass under Russian domination. Trace out its 15,000-mile-long perimeter. At every turn there is strife and the threat of Communist conquest. Most worrisome problem to the western world is the fact that the Kremlin is able to arrange this difficulty — including shooting wars like those in Korea and Indo-China — without committing a single Russian to action. Further Russia is able to supply and assist her Red-fringe trouble makers over relatively short, land-locked supply lines. Western nations, on the other hand, must move supplies vast distances overseas to bolster countries now fighting communism. While doing this, they know that however effectively Red aggression may be stifled in one spot, other explosions can always be touched off by a work from Moscow.

Korean Battle Tops All News Events Of Year, 1950

By JOHN L. SPRINGER
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Mountainous little Korea, no more than a name to most Americans a year ago, became the hottest news spot on earth in 1950.

Editors of Associated Press newspapers, voting on outstanding events and personalities of the year, almost unanimously chose the Korean War as the No. 1 news story.

When Communist force controlling the northern half of Korea invaded the southern half on June 25, it appeared that the United States and other United Nations could make only a minor military commitment and put down the aggression. But the operation developed into a full-scale war, for the U. S. at least, and carried with it the germ of global conflict.

Other top stories, as chosen by the editors:

2.—CHINA'S ENTRY INTO THE WAR. Chinese Communists from Manchuria poured into Korea in November, when U.N. forces had routed the North Koreans. This changed the entire complexion of the struggle. In effect, said the U.N. commander, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, it meant the beginning of a new war.

3.—ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF THE PRESIDENT. Two gunmen of the Puerto Rican Nationalist movement tried, on Nov. 1 to shoot their way past Blair House guards and into the second floor bedroom where Harry S. Truman was taking his afternoon nap. One gunman was killed on the Blair House front steps, the other was wounded. One guard gave his life protecting the President, two others were injured.

4.—REPUBLICAN GAINS AND THE ELECTION OF TAFT. This year's election campaign was one of the bitterest in years. Republicans gained in both House and Senate races, but the Democrats retained control of the lower house by 35 votes and of the upper chamber by only two. It appeared that southern Democrats would hold the balance of power. The most watched contest was in Ohio, where the Republican leader and candidate for the Senate, Robert A. Taft, faced united labor union opposition. Taft scored a resounding victory, with a majority of 400,000 votes.

5.—THE UNITED STATES REARMS. Demands of the Korean war—and threats of an even greater one—produced a sharp upturn in American defense expenditures. Soon after the Korean invasion, Congress appropriated ten billion dollars and it was commonly understood that this was but a forerunner of far greater appropriations to come. Draft operations were speeded up, the Navy took ships out of storage, and defense orders began to pile up on industries already working full-time to supply unprecedented civilian demands. The result was, in many cases, a cutback in civilian production and severe credit restrictions to try to keep down civilian consumption of important raw materials.

6.—SENATOR McCARTHY'S CAMPAIGN against alleged Reds in government. The Senator from Wisconsin made the State Department his target. He charged that Communists and Communist-sympathizers exercised undue influence over its policies. His fight on the Senate floor produced more than a month of exciting controversy.

7.—TRIALS OF ALGER HISS and alleged spies. Persons accused of aiding Communist Russia had their days in court in 1950. Two of the most notable trials involved Alger Hiss and Judith Coplon. Hiss was convicted of lying when he denied passing on State Department secrets to Whittaker Chambers, then a Communist courier, in 1938. Miss Coplon was convicted of attempted espionage, but on appeal a court said that she would have to be tried because the F.B.I. used illegal methods in obtaining evidence against against her.

8.—TRUMAN ORDERS THE H-BOMB. For weeks, leaders of American opinion debated whether the country should try to build the potential city-blasting hydrogen bomb. Agreeing with such spokesman as Bernard Baruch and Eleanor Roosevelt, the President said the country's defense demanded that it keep its lead over Russia in atomic research. On Jan. 31 he ordered work on the bomb to begin. But there still remained the question whether technical obstacles could be overcome to make it a realty.

9.—"MERCY KILLING" TRIAL of Dr. Hermann Sander. It was widely heralded as a test case for euthanasia (the killing by doctors of hopelessly incurable persons to put them out of their misery.) When Dr. Sander took the stand in a Manchester, N. H., courtroom to defend himself against charges that he had so killed Mrs. Abbie Borroto, however, euthanasia aspects of the case vanished. He said that the woman had died a natural death before he injected enough air into her veins to kill her. Believing his version, the jury acquitted him.

10.—BRINK'S HOLDUP IN BOSTON. This story won such a high rank because of the breath-taking daring of the robbers who broke into the apparently strongly protected warehouse of the armored truck company on Jan. 17 and made off with $1,500,000. The case remains unsolved.

THE U. N. MEETS — fate of the five-year-old international organization was in the balance in 1950. It underwent the sorest test of its history when with the Korean war, when it threw its prestige on the scales.

Get Close-up on Russian Planes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 —(AP)— Russian newsreels captured in Korea are giving U. S. intelligence experts a close look at the latest Red combat planes.

The Air Force disclosed this Tuesday in screening for reporters at the Pentagon a film picked up in Korea about three weeks ago. It showed Russia's fastest known jet fighter and other types that have been reported in combat in recent weeks.

The Red fighters were paced by the MIG-15, rated at 659.1 miles per hour. The films also showed a very similar, swept-wing fighter known as the type 15 which is believed to be about 20 miles an hour slower than the MIG.

Air Force officers said that allied airmen undoubtedly had tangled with both types of jets.

The film also showed a slower jet known at the type 16, which is probably the first Rusian fighter powered by a jet motor. This plane flies at about 555 miles an hour.

None of the Russian jets pictured has been reported faster than the U. S. F-86 Sabre, which recorded a speed of 671.98 miles an hour over a measured course at Muroc base in California last year.

U. S. airmen in Korea have several times reported sighting a Russian jet fighter that looked very much like the better known MIG-15. The captured film has enabled the Air Force to note slight differences between the MIG and the type 15 which were not clearly evident from air observation.

Rains Bring Joy to Farms

Moisture Covers Kansas, Missouri; Highways Hazardous

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 3—(AP)—Rain and snow in Missouri and Kansas Tuesday slicked up highways and brought joy to farmers.

More than an inch of rain fell at Wichita, Emporial and Pittsburg in Kansas and at Joplin and Jefferson City in Missouri. The snow hit northwestern Kansas with seven inches at Hill City.

More moisture was in sight. Already it had broken a year-end drought and helped the dormant winter wheat crop.

At Wichita, Don Ingle, Sedwick County Agent, said the rain "bettered the picture greatly" for wheat growers. He said farmers at the county institute were cheerful after an almost rain-less December.

The joy of Kansas farmers was echoed in Missouri. Hensley Hall, County Extension Agent at Jefferson City, said rain was a "God-send" after a dry period starting in mid-November.

As a result of general rains throughout the southwest wheat areas, wheat futures dipped in Kansas City as much as two cents. They recovered later and closed one-half cent lower to five-eighths cent higher.

Arizona's McFarland Named As New Senatorial Leader To Replace Scott Lucas

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3—(AP)—Senate Democrats chose Senator Ernest W. McFarland of Arizona today to be their leader in the new congress opening today.

Their selection of a successor for the defeated Senator Lucas of Illinois, a down-the-line administration man, was a distinct rebuff to Truman forces who backed Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming. It was only one of a series of warning signals sent up on the last day of the 81st congress to advise the White House of rough going ahead for some administration projects.

An Administration Advocate

McFarland himself generally can be counted in the administration column but his adherence is not a hard and fast thing. For instance he was one of those who voted against limiting debate on civil rights legislation, and the core of his backing was the group of southern senators who want no part of such Truman proposals.

The same group in the expiring congress has often joined hands with Republicans to block economic measures and government reorganizaztion proposals advanced by the White House.

Senators emerging from the closed door caucus at which McFarland was elected reported the vote was 30 for the Arizona senator and 19 for O'Mahoney, who usually goes a bit farther along the administration line.

Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas was elected assistant leader. He succeeds Senator Myers of Pennsylvania, another election casualty.

Senator Douglas of Illinois nominated Senator Sparkman of Alabama for the assistant's post but the Alabaman told reporters he withdrew. He said he was not a candidate.

The McFarland nomination was made by Senator Hayden of Arizona. O'Mahoney's name was offered by Senator Hunt of Wyoming.

The invididual votes were secret.

O'Mahoney was reported by Sparkman to hove moved that the election of McFarland be made unanimous, and that was done.

As majority leader the 56-year-old McFarland will head the party's policy committee. He is serving his second senate term, which ends Jan. 3, 1953.

A native of Oklahoma, he was a practicing lawyer, prosecutor and judge in Arizona before his election to the Senate in 1940. As a lawyer he is a specialist in irrigation and water law.

A Majority of Only Two

McFarland in his dual post as leader and policy committee chief will have only a two-man Democrat majority to work with. The line-up will be 49 Democrats and 47 Republicans, compared to the 54-42 count in Lucas' time.

While the Democratic senators were lining up their organization for the new session, there were indications that the administration will take a new bump tomorrow when rules are written for House activities.

Two years ago when the Democrats settled in the saddle in that branch, they put in new language breaking the rules committe's old stranglehold on the order of house business.

After a conference of the 199 Republican members who will serve in the new House it was reported today that they were "substantially" agreed to back a return to the old system.

Most southern Democrats take a like view and with the heavier representation of Republicans in the new House they seem likely to win their point.
